Greenwood/Woodstock transfer station approved by state board

Reversing its January decision, the state Board of Environmental Protection voted 9-0 last Wednesday to approve a permit for the Greenwood/Woodstock transfer station. In its earlier vote, the decision was 4-2 against the permit.

Participants and observers credited the reversal of the earlier decision on a better presentation by the two towns, plus energetic behind-the-scenes work by State Senator Don Twitchell (D-Norway).

"Last time it was established that the towns went ahead without permission [the transfer station was opened last fall] and then didn't construct it according to their plans," said staffer Dave Lewis of the Department of Environmental Protection. "This time the towns submitted new evidence and said they'd hire an experienced contractor to construct the site."

Woodstock Selectman Frank Bean said the towns will hire Bethel contractor Dennis Wilson to finish constructing the site.

One of the nine conditions laid down by the board in approving the permit is that, in addition to hiring a professional contractor, the towns hire a registered engineer to oversee the work, and to oversee the closing of the old dump, adjacent to the transfer site off Route 26 in Locke Mills.

"I don't think the board understood [before] it was highly temporary," said Selectman Bean. In getting them to understand that the earlier work was just temporary, he gave credit to fellow Selectman Ethel Davis. "Ethel did a very good job."

Selectman Davis told the board, "Please bear in mind this project is at the stage 'construction in progress' and incomplete at this time. We have just begun; you are not looking at the finished product."

"For at least three years now, we have had the guidance and direction of specialized professional technicians of the Department of Environmental Protection and Androscoggin Valley Council of Governments, trying to resolve our problem that both towns are faced with. The goal of all parties involved has been to replace two environmentally dangerous dumps with a transfer station that is safe, clean, convenient, and non-polluting, and to be able to eliminate offensive open-dump burning. We feel the procedure we have started is environmentally sound and will be much more beneficial to us all," she told the board.

DEP staffer Lewis agreed: "I think the environment won one here, and the towns did too."

Greenwood Selectman Wayne Redman credited the fact that, "We did our homework." He also credited "the people who helped us, the people who advised us."

Skiway finalizes building plans —cost estimated at $5.6 million

Speaking before an audience of 70 journalists, government officials, businessmen and friends, Sunday River Skiway Corporation President Les Otten said work on this year's expansion of the ski resort had already begun and would require $5.6 million to complete.

Among the improvements going in this spring and summer, Mr. Otten listed new condo units, a new commercial center, a new double chair, a new triple chair, four new trails, snowmaking for three of the new trails, plus renovations to existing structures.

The final plans for the expansion have changed somewhat since originally reported in The Citizen two months ago. The new triple chair will go to North Peak, not Spruce Peak, as originally planned. North Peak is to the right of Barker Mountain and Spruce Peak, looking up, and is more accessible than Spruce Peak for construction. The resort has already begun clearing a path through the trees on North Peak to accommodate the 4,165-foot chairlift.

Mr. Otten held open the possibility that Spruce Peak would be developed after complete utilization of the North Peak.

The Fall Line Condominium, which had been envisioned to be half-built this year, will, it was announced, be two-thirds built, with the inclusion of a swimming pool, saunas, whirlpool, common areas and restaurant space, in addition to the 64 one-bedroom units. The changes have pushed the original cost estimate of $4.4 million up to $5.6 million.

The new commercial center, which, like the Fall Line Condominium will be in the South Ridge area, will have 16,000 square feet of commercial space for restaurants and shops on the ground floor, plus 24 one-bedroom condos above, with individual hot tubs, saunas and fireplaces.

Twelve additional townhouse condos will be built in the area adjacent to, continued on Page Eight

Beginning May 1st W. Paris will truck trash to Norridgewock

The West Paris Board of Selectmen decided last Thursday to definitely set up dumpsters at the town dump and have a trash hauler take the town's trash to a private landfill in Norridgewock.

As reported in The Citizen last week, the selectmen were considering sending the town's solid waste to Norridgewock unless the City of Auburn gave definite assurance that the town could, soon, send its trash to the Auburn incinerator.

They found out last week that no such assurance could be given, and so they opted for the long haul—about 75 miles—to Norridgewock.

They have come to an agreement with the operator of the landfill there on a $14 tipping fee per ton of trash, while they have accepted the low bid of G.A.N. Sanitation, of Bethel, for a hauling fee of $27 per ton.

G.A.N. Sanitation owner Dwight Merrill said he plans to place eight 16-yard dumpsters along the road, continued on Page Eight

WCBB antenna fund nears $5,000 goal

The steering committee for the WCBB tower project reported this week that, as of Monday, $4,300 had been raised or pledged toward the local share of the construction cost of the new Channel 10 antenna in Bethel.

Steering committee chairwoman Cathy Newell expressed confidence that when final reports are received from all committee members later this week the goal of $5,000 will have been achieved. The local share will be matched by $5,000 from the Bingham Betterment Foundation, and WCBB will fund the remainder of the project, estimated at $32,000 total. The antenna, which will capture, amplify and re-broadcast Channel 10's signal, will be located on Bailey Hill in Bethel and is expected to greatly improve reception of public television in the area.

Bethel selectmen finish budget workshop

Amidst sharp differences of opinion between Selectmen Arlan Jodrey and Pat Dooen, the Bethel Board of Selectmen Monday night finished their budget deliberations on next fiscal year's budget.

Surveying the $831,937 spending package they had put together, which is an increase of 27 percent, Selectman Dooen predicted a jump in the tax rate of 3.7 mills—an unprecedented tax hike, she noted. "One mill or a mill-and-a-half would be bad enough," she said.

Town Clerk Merton Brown pointed out that it was too early to predict the mill rate because it was still impossible to calculate what revenues will be available in the budget aside from property taxes.

But the selectmen went to work cutting items they had previously put into the budget, and when they had finished, they had pared $33,950 from the total (mostly from road projects). Which was not enough for Selectman Dooen. "I won't recommend it," she said. "I didn't suspect you would," commented Selectman Jodrey.

"If you cut it any more, you're into things that need to be done," he continued, pointing out that two mills of the projected tax increase is for the ambulance garage and the grader. "I question if people on the street are as concerned about the budget as we are."

In terms of finalizing the budget, the selectmen earmarked another $15,000 for continued improvements to the Cole Block, plus pencilling in a total of $26,940 for upkeep of municipal buildings.

In other budgets, they suggested $30,427 for summer roads, compared to the current $31,425; and $64,734 for winter roads, compared to the current $54,200.

There is $35,000 set aside for a new grader, and the thinking is to borrow an additional $50,000 to have enough money to purchase a new grader before next winter. The first year's repayment, which would have to be raised at town meeting, would be around $22,000.

Public works was marked down to $287,231, compared with $251,673 this year. The largest increases were in salaries, including $7,000 in employee bonuses, and in vehicle insurance—rising from the current $1,400 to $3,000—plus $4,000 for safety supplies.

The revenue side of the budget still remains fuzzy. The only hard estimates so far are on expected rental income ($5,040), fees ($8,700), landfill ($3,600 each from Hanover and Newry), and a state block grant ($36,500).

Federal revenue sharings funds is one of the big questionmarks.

The budget went to the Budget Committee last night (Tuesday). That committee will discuss it at three sessions before turning it back to the selectmen.

Bids for ambulance garage come in high

Bids to construct a new ambulance garage were opened last Friday at the Bethel town office. Four bids were received, as follows: D.C. King Co., York, $75,654; David Luxton and Robert Greeke, Bethel, $80,833; North Builders, Rumford, $93,000; G.V. Rice Construction Co., Norway, $108,463.

Special town meeting last month approved borrowing up to $72,000 for the new garage. That amount included extras such as paving and landscaping. The selectmen had estimated the construction of the building itself to cost between $50,000 and $60,000.

Town Manager Rodney Lynch said he phoned eight local contractors last week after it was discovered that an "invitation to bid" advertisement had inadvertently not been placed in the local paper. "I was very concerned about being fair to the Bethel area contractors," he said. He even told them he would extend the deadline for bids by one week if any of them needed extra time to work up a bid.

But none turned in bids, though a few looked at specifications for the building, he said.

In view of the higher-than-expected bids received, the schedule for awarding the bid and constructing the building seems likely to be set back. The bid award had been scheduled for April 22.

New ranger appointed at Evans Notch district

A new ranger has been named to head the Evans Notch Ranger District of the White Mountain National Forest.

Currently serving as assistant ranger for timber in the Cass Lake Ranger District of the Chippewa National Forest in Minnesota, Chad Converse has been named to replace Mark Boche in the Bethel office. Mr. Boche was transferred to headquarters in Washington D.C. last month.

Mr. Converse is married and has two sons. His current duties involve him in supervising a forest of northern hardwoods plus spruce and fir—much the same as he will find here.

He is expected to arrive either the last week of May or the first week of June. In the meantime, the local assistant rangers are rotating the duties of acting ranger. This month Rick McVey is acting ranger.

Mr. McVey reports that the Boche family has settled in Fairfax, Va., where they have purchased a house.

A different drummer

Our worthy legislators in Augusta are determined to get us in step with the rest of the nation by declaring that Memorial Day shall be observed on the last Monday in May instead of the traditional day, May 30.

We may be backward and stubborn here in Maine, and tend to march to the beat of a different drummer, but that's not necessarily bad. It may be that the rest of the nation has made a serious mistake in making all holidays a time for recreation instead of a time for remembrance.

The House approved the change last week; the Senate still has to consider it. We think the holiday—and all serious holidays, for that matter—should be observed on the day it was designed to be observed. Memorial Day, or Decoration Day, should be a day to decorate the graves of those who have fallen in battle—as it was originally designed. It should be more than just a long weekend to mark the beginning of summer. The trivialization of history has gone too far.

Most area dumps get low marks from state's DEP

Greenwood, Woodstock and West Paris are all taking their dump problems seriously and doing something to improve the situation. Greenwood and Woodstock now have the state's blessing to continue building their joint transfer station, and West Paris will shortly set up its own transfer station.

Looking at the state Department of Environmental Protection's priority list of solid waste facilities around the state (released last month), it is clear that transfer stations are what the DEP likes to see.

Utilizing a point system, by which dumps are marked down, most severely for polluting water sources or the air, and less severely for other infractions, the overwhelming number of the 22 sites that got perfect compliance scores are all transfer sites.

Based on inspections carried out last year, area dumps scored as follows. The worst was Woodstock, which was found to be only 42.5 percent in compliance with standards. (The dump is no longer used.)

Next is Gilead, with only 45 percent compliance with standards. Then comes West Paris—47.5 percent compliance.

Andover, which recently changed its dump lock and announced that dumping would have to be done during regular dump hours, scored 52.5 percent compliance.

Greenwood, which is now utilizing the new transfer station, scored 55 percent compliance on its old dump.

Getting good grades were Bethel, with 77.5 percent compliance, and Upton, with 82.5 percent compliance.

The private landfill in Norridgewock where West Paris plans to send its trash, scored a high 95 percent compliance rate.

The most dismal dump in the state, according to the DEP, was Saco, which was only 17.5 percent in compliance with state regulations.

ROTARY CLUB NEWS

The Bethel Rotary Club met at the Sudbury Inn for its luncheon meeting yesterday (Tuesday), with Dick Gleason, owner and general manager of WOXO as the guest speaker.

Mr. Gleason spoke on time management, getting the members to list their goals and objectives as an aid to managing their time.

Mr. Gleason was invited by program chairman John Eliot.

Visiting Rotarians and guests were introduced by Master-at-Arms Rollie Glines. They were Mike Thurston, Rumford club, Bill Devins, Buffalo, N.Y., and Eric Cornell, Norway.

The Bethel Rotary Club had the pleasure of inducting another new member at the meeting. Scott Dennis was approved for membership by the committee. David Preble was his sponsor. Club President Jim Monahan welcomed the new member to the club in a brief induction ceremony.

The program for next week's meeting will be a talk and slide presentation by Byron Wiley, of Great Northern Paper Co., concerning the planned Big A hydroelectric project. Local residents interested in the subject are welcome to attend. Plan to be at the Sudbury Inn 12:20 p.m.

The big Rotary-sponsored Spring Mud Ball will be held at the Locke Mills Legion Hall this Saturday, April 20. The support of local dance fans is solicited. The popular Stagecoach Band will play for the dance.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

There is talk in Bethel of Community Theatre.

There is reluctance by those who would participate, that they would get stuck doing it all.

A small group of us (so far) meets every Thursday night at 8 p.m. at Telstar High School under the heading "Theatre Business Management." We are attempting to "build" a school community theatre company from the ground up, starting with the most neglected end—management.

So far we have two certain goals: one, a school-community musical theatre production (performance) in the spring of 1986 at Telstar auditorium; and two, the refurbishing and managing of Odeon Hall as an operating circuit theatre.

A theatre company needs many talents and skills to operate. We need managers, artists, and technicians. That is: business managers, publicists, advertisers, accountants, bankers, lawyers, agents, actors, singers, musicians, dancers, choreographers, directors, designers, costumers, make-up people, properties people, painters, riggers, electricians, carpenters, plumbers, stage hands, stage managers, ushers, production managers and more.

If you are interested in becoming a member of a theatre company whose success depends on group effort, please show up at our next meeting, April 25, at Telstar, or contact Cathy Newell at Adult and Community Education office, 824-2780.

We are discussing the musicals we would like to see and do. How about you? We need suggestions (in person, please), records, tapes, librettos, and other information of and about musical performances you would like to see and do.

Sincerely yours,
Christina Baker
Jewel Clark
Harry Davis
Susan Davis
Dennis Dreher
Gemma Morrill-Dreher

To the Editor:

I wish to express my sincere thanks to Senator Donald Twitchell for a job "well done" in representing Greenwood and Woodstock at the Department of Environmental Protection hearing on the G&V waste transfer station.

His dedicated effort contributed greatly toward the approval of the transfer site—reversing an earlier decision by the DEP board.

We are indeed fortunate to have such an able and concerned Senator representing our district.

Also, special thanks should go to Ethel Davis for her well prepared speech in support of the transfer site.

Sincerely,
Marie J. Bartlett, Chairman
Greenwood Planning Board

To the Editor:

Word from National Headquarters states that Bethel has more Peace Ribbon segments than any other town in Maine! Congratulations!

This is to remind you that the State House is open from 8 to 5 Monday through Friday if you wish to see them all on display.

Don't forget the June 1 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. picnic in Capitol Park across the street from the State House. There we will tie all the panels together to form Maine's length of The Ribbon. Bring family and friends, a blanket and lunches and be prepared to sing and play. (Rain date 6/2/85)

What a lovely day Wednesday turned out to be. It really made one think spring is finally on its way and none too soon to suit me. I wonder what the robins think when they try to find something to eat when it snows. They are a pretty sight to see as they hop around the yard and try to find food. I feel sorry for them.

I have been trying to make a frilly dress for my granddaughter and have sewed on it whenever I could. I wanted to get it done so she could wear it Easter Sunday if her mother wanted her to and did finally get it done. It is fun to work around ruffles and lace to make a little girl look cute and the dress fit her to a T. Also made her a skirt and blouse that she likes, so guess I haven't lost all my ability to sew, though it takes me forever to get done what I used to do in a few hours. Got to get busy and make a few clothes for myself now.

Russell and I have to try out our new washer once in awhile and it works good for us, so far. Also got another crocheted project going that will take quite awhile. Want to start housecleaning, but got to find a little more ambition before I tackle that project.

Had to go to town and get a few groceries and it sure takes the money now to get a few things. You think you are going to have a little money left, but usually get fooled when the amount is running up.

Russell had started to change the platform around out in the addition so we can hang clothes up when it is foul weather and got quite a start on it. He had tried to dry some clothes one day and they didn't dry very well until he set his fan to going and it blew the clothes around so then got them dry.

Had a surprise call from my foster daughter on Saturday. She came to show me her car that her husband had bought her for Easter. A nice gift that will help her a lot as they both work and sometimes not at the same hours.

On Easter Sunday, my daughter and granddaughter came up and we went to church. Courtney had a good time playing in the nursery with the other children. She seems to get along with most of them and is disappointed when it is time to leave and go home. When we got back to the house, Russell had lunch pretty well prepared. I had it started before going to church, but he had it pretty well ready to put onto the table, so we enjoyed our Easter lunch together. Courtney was tired after lunch and took a nice long nap, so didn't have time to go visiting as I had hoped, but had a good day.

Didn't work too hard on Monday and Tuesday was doctor's day again as every week. It seems as though I am always going to the doctor for something and I shall be glad when I get over this spell of bronchial asthma and feel good again.

As I said, Wednesday was a beautiful day and I had to go to Fryeburg to get my dentures that the dentist had been fixing for me, then Nonie was coming to get me to go to Lewiston to babysit for a couple of days. It is now Thursday morning and another good day and we are all busy doing something. Courtney and I spent the evening together last night and had a good time as usual. I expect we will have a good time tonight also, while her parents go to classes.

I hope everyone remembers that the first three point meeting for Franklin, West Paris and Bear River Granges will be held on April 18 at West Paris. The second meeting will be at Bear River on April 27 and the third meeting at Franklin Grange on May 6. We would like to see all the members of each Grange come and take part in the participation and hope all will enjoy the good time and refreshments after each meeting. No supper before any of these meetings, but refreshments afterward.

Tillie Grundy of Sebago and Venice, Fla., a sister of Margaret Mitchell, a summer resident of Upton, was in her motor home in Venice during the recent tornado there. She took refuge under her bed as lightning came around and in her house. Telephone service was out for three days but Margaret and other Ellingwood relatives were in touch.

If I said there was heavy snow storm and the roads were impassable for a time on the day for mailing items last week, it would be true, but since I've been known to hood it for the two miles it would be, it would be an excuse, not a reason. The fact is, my personal computer has not adjusted to the new mailing day.

My Friend

This morning, April 10, 1985 word came to me of the death of a cherished friend, Ina Potter Mundt. We met 60 years ago as classmates at Gould Academy. Over these many years we have kept in close touch. At our wedding, she and Ernest were with us. The next year we were with them at their. We celebrated our "Goldens" together.

Her life was devoted and unselfish. Tireless in her energy she thought only of working for others whom she loved. Her grandchildren were a source of pride and pleasure to her. The little great grandson she lived to see and love. With these and the love and appreciation of her husband, Ernest, and daughter, Neva, made her life full and complete.

Such souls forever live.

She gave me memories, days to recall, a loving affection to cherish forever.

Ina, Happiness was knowing someone nice like you.

Happiness was sharing good times together, too.

Happiness was wishing the best that life could send.

Love and joy and laughter with you my special friend.

C.C.M.

On Monday, April 8, the sun was scheduled to rise at a little after five o'clock. I looked out to see a few snowflakes drifting down and thought, "Oh, not again." But it turned out just lovely later, so I prepared to go to the hills and left at 1:30 p.m. I traveled the road for a short distance then "took to the fields."

A short way up the road, I frightened two woodcocks. As a rule they are early spring birds and Clyde saw one on the lawn the last of March. They are interesting birds. As these two mounted into the air, they did as an airship in rising. The rapid wing beat and vibrant whistling notes, I heard, which is familiar to one who has heard them. When well into the air, they turned in diminishing circles, but continuing their whistle. At the apex of their flight the whistling notes changed to louder call notes. They dropped suddenly down not far from their original place. They are amusing to watch at any time but the male, in the mating season really puts on a show with his bowing and strutting.

As I started to ascend the hill I noticed how beautiful the clouds were; pearly veils suspended above the tree tops. I lifted my camera and snapped a picture.

So perfect were my surroundings at this moment! No droning planes, no revving of cars, no blaring radio.

I was surprised at the number of little spiders crawling over the frozen grass.

Now I walked more quickly until I came to the next field where the view was wider. I climbed upon the "survey rock" marked 808' and looked over the valley. There were places here, where the snow had built against the walls.

I crossed over and entered the forest. There was a soft rush of water and sighing of evergreen trees. With the wind playing in their branches the change was obvious; the empty meaning of noise became a song. It was like a child humming through the teeth of a comb. I enjoyed the concert here and the odor of pines where the resin had spilled out on the twigs.

Out in the top-field again there were ubiquitous low-growing juniper shrubs. They have berries which begin as pale green and ripen to dusky dark blue. Not at all liked in fields.

Turning back I visited the rock with its miniature "lake" where I used to take my nephews and niece to picnic. This overlooks the cellar-hole of a long-ago house. The yard now is over-run with junipers. Some pink roses bloom along the wall each June, shaded now by large maples growing from within

A door to the town office was pried open and a chain locking the bulkhead at the rear of the building. The basement was entered but nothing was taken there or from the town office as far as could be determined. It was felt that the break was made by someone familiar with the building. Mr. Haegele reported that chainsaws taken in a break some time ago had never been recovered. It is believed that total loss and damage would be in excess of $1,500. The break is under investigation by the Oxford County Sheriff's Department.

Bethel

By LINDA CARON

Belated news from Easter: guests of Mrs. Muriel Butters were Bruce and Lotie Stevens and Adam. The Stevens family is from Bar Harbor.

Mrs. Edna Curis has moved into the Bethel House. We hope she's enjoying her new home.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Buck, daughter and son-in-law, Linda and Phillip Chin and Ashley, have just returned from a week's vacation in Orlando, Fla.

Mrs. Marjorie Cummings has returned home to Sudbury Village from Florida. Surely her friends are glad to have her home again.

Does anyone remember Paul Cousins who was the meteorologist on NewsCenter at 6 before Joe Cupo? Paul is on NewsCenter in Boston now. We saw him when we visited my dad in Massachusetts. He's doing well and looking good!

If anyone goes by my house and wonders what all those styrofoam cups and cardboard boxes are in the front window, I'm starting my garden early. I have pepper plants, pansies, sweet peas, marigolds, ageratum, bachelor buttons and lots of weeds. I'm trying to teach Jaime to pull up just the weeds. I think she's been tilling the flats with her fingers because the flowers aren't exactly in straight rows and there are a few marigolds sprouting with the sweet peas! I'm looking forward to having a vegetable garden this summer. My only problem is that the spot I've picked for my garden is also the playground for our resident skunk family!

Well, those nasty chicken pox have struck home. Jaime began Thursday with two and by Friday there were six. So we have to skip the circus for this year. We're going to visit Jaime's grandmother, known as Mimi, in Lewiston. Mimi has a special present for Jaime that came from California. Mimi is just back from two weeks in the sunshine! So pretty soon you will see mother and daughter walking around town wearing matching Mickey Mouse sweaters!

There seems to be a group of ladies who unknowingly have become my early-warning network. When Larry Gatlin is on television I can be sure of at least two or three phone calls to make sure I know about it! As Larry would say, "Ah sure do appreciate your kindness." This is the man who kissed Jaime (not to mention her mother) at last year's concert. Oh, the stories I could tell...and probably will at one time or another.

As promised last time, here is the snowfall formula. Keep in mind that when we say snowfall, we mean just enough to track a cat. It doesn't have to be a blizzard! On the day of the first snowfall of autumn, count the days back to the new moon. Add that number of days to the date of the snowfall and you have the number of snowfalls for the year. Easy? Sure. Accurate? About 95 per cent. Let me tell you it was no easy task getting that information out of the old Indian! That redman is so sly he could talk a bird right out of a cat's mouth! When Chief Chagagagomanchaugagochabunagungamaung—we call him "Chief" for short—(and to preserve what sanity we have left) rested his moccasins beneath our birch tree he graciously agreed to impart his weather wisdom. He says we have four left this year. We had a fruitful visit and as he departed, with a promise to return often, he left this bit of wisdom: "May pigeons fly upside down the next time you wash your car."

Do you have a shy friend? I do. Shyness keeps people apart instead of being together. Your best chance of going out is to be outgoing. If you stay too long inside your shell, you'll go nuts! Food for thought: "If we, as members of the human race, weren't meant to be close, why do we have arms?"—Robin Williams.

COUNTRY AND WESTERN SINGER Ted White will be in town May 1, performing in a free concert at Gould Academy.

Local singer takes honors at the Grand Ole Opry

For those who attended Gould Academy in the late 1950s, who can forget the Saturday night dances in Bingham gym when every once in awhile Ted White ('60) would haul out his guitar and pound out a Buddy Knox, Gene Vincent or Johnny Cash ballad? Even back then, his resonant voice and lanky frame swinging to the beat started everyone's feet tapping and hands clapping. Today, Ted White is still at it, but his audiences have changed.

As he tells it, last June some of his friends persuaded him to enter the Wrangler Country Showdown Competition at the Augusta Civic Center. Ted responded, "The last time I entered a contest was when I was 12 years old, and some baton twirler beat the pants off me!"

His friends persisted, and Ted finally gave in. Out of the 30 contestants, he placed first, and with another singer, the two finalists travelled to the state competition at the Skowhegan Fair. The light at the end of the tunnel was a thousand dollars and the chance to represent the State of Maine at the nationals in Nashville's Grand Ole Opry. Ted put in some overtime on his Gibson guitar, rehearsing two songs he had written: "I Hope You're Proud" and "Wasted." At the fair, he sang both songs and captured first place.

On Nov. 5, Ted boarded an airplane and headed for Nashville, where he said he'd always wanted to visit but never dared dream he'd sing. Late that afternoon, he and 12 other single acts had 15 minutes each to practice with the Charlie McCoy Band, which Ted describes as the Boston Symphony Orchestra of the country-western expression.

That evening, all 50 contestants gathered for a dinner and the chance to swap stories and experiences. "I was among the greatest group of human beings I ever met," Ted said. "We all had a chance to rid ourselves of the jitters before the big event."

Until next time...call me, send me a post card—something! I can't write the news if you don't let me know what the news is!

Lori Mason, daughter of Ernest and Anita Mason of Bethel, will graduate from basic training at Fort Dix, N.J., April 19. After graduating she will be attending AIT School for 22 weeks at Fort Sam Houston, Texas. After completing school she will be going Airborne and stationed at Fort Benning, Ga., for jump school.

The next day, all 50 singers had four minutes each to show their stuff to the judges. The top 10 finishers, who would be announced the following day at the gala event, would have the chance to perform their entire act before a live audience and television cameras. Ted sang half of each of two songs and proceeded to wait it out with the others.

Wednesday night, Nov. 7, the stage lights came on, the curtains opened, and the roar of the applause welcomed the representatives of all 50 states. The show was hosted by Jim Stafford and Brenda Lee, both of whom Ted stated put everyone at ease, if not in the aisles rolling with laughter. At this point Ted didn't much care whether he won, placed or drew. Just standing on the same stage on which his country-western heroes had launched themselves into stardom was reward enough. The icing on the cake came when Ted heard his name read aloud as one of the top 10 finishers. That enabled him to perform on center stage at the Grand Ole Opry, and he recorded on Nashville Network Cable TV for public viewing in January.

"Though I did not win the final competition by placing first, I got even with the 12-year-old baton twirler and had the greatest time of my life with some of the neatest people under the sun," Ted said. "I still can't believe it happened to me."

Ted was raised in Bethel and attended Gould for four years. He has been a game warden for 19 years in northern Maine and is the proud father of three children: Dorraine, who is a sophomore at the University of Maine in Orono; Martin who is in the Air Force at Cranute Air Force Base in Illinois, training as a jet engine mechanic; and Darren, a junior at Dixfield High School. Ted is hoping to attend his 25th reunion at Gould next October and perhaps return earlier for a repeat performance in the William Bingham Auditorium.

Dr. and Mrs. John Trinward are in Washington, D.C., where Dr. Trinward is attending the annual meeting of the North East Regional Board of Dental Examiners.

Bob Myers of Bethel is challenging for a spot on the 1985 golf team at the University of Maine at Farmington.

Sixteen youngsters participated in the annual Easter egg hunt sponsored by the Women's Club held at the Town Garage on April 6. The children were divided into two groups. Finding the most eggs for the younger group was little Freeman Coriveau, who found the "Golden Egg" also, which contained the $2—as did little Mike Chapman, another $2 winner. In the older group, those eight to 12 years—the most eggs found were by Belinda Coriveau and Fabian Coriveau, and Shelly Coriveau found the $2 Golden Egg. A bag of Easter candy was presented to all the other children.

Mrs. Stella Tyler spent Easter Day with her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Smith of the Bog Road. Mr. and Mrs. Smith's daughter, Stephanie, was home from her studies in Massachusetts for the occasion.

Kenny and Kathy Cole attended Easter services in Gorham, N.H.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Coriveau were guests of her mother, Mrs. Ella Russell, in West Paris on Easter Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cross and Kelsey of Bryant Pond called at the home of her mother and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Loring, on Easter Day. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Laughy of Tilton, N.H., were guests of her mother and family, Mrs. Mary Cole, over the weekend.

Mary Tyler took Louise Loring to visit her mother, Elsie Bryant, in Bryant Pond on April 8.

Boston, April 19, 1775 — Colonists in Middlesex County and neighboring areas were awakened last night by an unknown rider, now positively identified as Paul Revere, a well known silversmith residing in Boston. Seen to be riding at a fast gallop, the gallant figure rode his trusty silver steed throughout the county-side from midnight to dawn, yelling "the British are coming." Many brave men heeded his call and have reportedly met the enemy at a little bridge, just outside of Concord, muskets primed and flags unfurled. There has been no word at this time as to the extent of casualties; however a British man o' war known as the "Somerset" lies at anchor at this time just below our window, as we look out across the harbor. A close friend of Revere, who wishes to remain nameless, sped to the Old North Church last evening to warn Revere of the approaching troops, as Revere lay in wait across the river at Charlestown. It is rumored that Revere and his friend were seen at a local tavern last night, and eyewitnesses there said Revere told the friend to signal with a light from atop the Old North Church belfry. It appears that a revolution is about to begin and all able-bodied men must lay down their plowshares and defend the soil. So rally to the cause, sires, let us defend ourselves.

The above might have been a newspaper's approach to the start of the Revolutionary War with the "shot heard 'round the world" 210 years ago this Friday. Needless to say our forefathers did rally to the cause, and although the Revolutionary War was long and bitterly fought, it rid the people of a foreign tyranny as it was imperative to do—to build the democratic society as we know it today. We are among the few inhabitants of this planet earth—who enjoy liberty and freedom and not dominated from some type of tyranny. And it all started when a handful of ragged and poor farmers first laid down their lives for us—as men united for

SMALL WOODLOT OWNERS TO REVIEW

WILDLIFE MANAGEMENT

The Western Maine Association of Small Woodland Owners Chapter of Maine (SWOAM) will meet Thursday, April 18, 7 p.m., at Oxford Hills High School, South Paris, to hear two different approaches to managing their woodlots.

Phil Bozenhard, Biologist with Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife, will describe how the State lands are managed to promote wildlife, and says many of these practices can apply to the small woodland owners.

John Lortie of the Rachel Carson National Wildlife Refuge will discuss practices which their experience shows can be used by private landowners for attracting and enhancing wildlife.

Whether it be deer, rabbits, woodcock, partridge, or even song birds you wish to attract, you are invited to come, to listen, to learn, and to go home and put into practice. Election of officers for the year and plans for the summer meetings, including the Field Day, will be discussed. The public is cordially invited.

YOUNG WRITERS

My Pesky Little Sister

By Denise Coolidge, 5th grade
Crescent Park School

I was walking home from school with my new neighbor Carrie, who had just moved in, when my five-year-old sister Anna came bounding down the path to meet us. "Oh no," I thought. I just know she's going to embarrass me. "Oh! Is this your little sister, Jenny?"

"Yes," I said. "Her name is Anna." Please don't embarrass me Anna, I prayed silently. But she did embarrass me with one of her dumb jokes.

"Hey! Carrie," said Anna. "Why do mosquitoes fly?"

"I don't know," said Carrie. "Why?" "Cause they want to," said Anna. She doubled up in laughter. Carrie flashes me a look of sympathy and ran ahead to walk with someone else. What a day! I thought. My new friend probably thought I was the strangest person she ever met and my dumb sister was giggling over some senseless jokes. I took her hand and half-walked and half-dragged her home. When I went home I told my mother and she thought it was funny! Still steaming over it, I sat down on the sofa and began to do my homework, but I couldn't keep my mind on it. I kept thinking about all the things Anna had ever done to me. Like the time she took everything out of the refrigerator and dumped it on the floor. Then she told my mother I did it and she believed her! Boy, I got a lecture and was grounded for a month! And the time she broke the window and when she dumped my fish bowl and... By then I was so mad I could strangle her. I wished she was never born! Then I heard a crash! I ran in the room and saw that she had broken my new stereo! "Why you little..."

"Jenny!" said my mother. "I wish she was never born," I shouted. "You don't mean that," said my mother. "Think of the good things about your sister."

Well, I thought, she does look cute when she smiles and she lets me use her stuff and... Just then Anna ran into the room. "I'm sorry for what I did this afternoon!" "That's okay," I said. We ran off to the playground together. She was no longer my pesky little sister. She was my friend.

Denise Coolidge's story, above, and Shilo Hutchins' story, which appeared last week, were both runners-up for participation in the regional Young Authors' Conference.

North Paris

By EVELINE B. VATCHER

Several from our hamlet attended the mock "Hee-Haw" at Norway Legion Hall.

Joe Vatcher, Harlan Abbott and Sayward Lamb, also Earl Newton of Mechanic Falls went to the sportsman's show at Augusta Civic Center recently.

Joe Kalinowski, Portland, Conn., came for a week on the hill and brought a snow storm with him. He returned home April 11.

Mollycokett Sportsman's Club had supper at Katie's Kitchen April 6, with nine members in attendance. After supper, they went to the home of Faye and Harlan Abbott for the meeting. The ham supper that had been planned for April 20 was called off and a new date set for May 25 with the supper to be held at North Paris Community Hall.

Doris Lawrence went with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Reidy to see and hear the Finnish accordion artist Viekho Haverainen. It was wonderful. They met Joe Kalinowski there and visited and danced.

Easter Sunday was a beautiful day. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vatcher went to Danvers, Mass., April 9 for Mrs. Vatcher's birthday one day early, but she didn't mind. They found her in good health and good spirits and she wanted to come to Maine. The yellow forsythia were in full bloom and beautiful. The trees are budded out and it looked real spring-like there. Before Eveline got back to North Paris, she was sorry that she had taken the "Go Shoes" of the hook, but she survived. They lunched with Robert Anderson Sr., Burlington, Mass.

Callers at Lawrence's: Percy McInnis, Arnold Coffin, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vatcher, Joe Kalinowski, Rhoda Vatcher, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Abbott, Jeff Coffin, Todd McKenzie, Roddie Westje, Lloyd Huntley.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Card, Joe Kalinowski had Easter dinner with the Lawrences.

Arnold Coffin had a pitched roof put on his trailer this week by Percy McInnis. It looks good.

To Viva Whitman: Eveline read in a newspaper that to rid a house of formaldehyde one should use 15 spider plants. Maybe you can have an indoor garden.

EAGLE SCOUT PROJECT
Jeff Boyle's Eagle Scout project, a screen house for the residents at the Bethel House, is nearly completed. He has only to buy the roof material and screening, and urges folks to drop by and take a look. Donations would be appreciated and may be made to Raymond Harrington, Scoutmaster, RFD 1, Bethel, Maine 04217; telephone 824-2698.

Little League to meet
A meeting of the Northern Oxford County Little League and Farm Teams will be held Tuesday, April 23, 7 p.m., at the VHS Hall at Rumford Corner. All teams are requested to send a representative.

STUDDIED TIRES FORBIDDEN ON MAINE ROADS AFTER MAY 1
Motorists are advised that State law forbids the use of studded tires on Maine roads after May 1.

"Section 1375 of the motor vehicle law states that tires having metal studs, wires or spikes protruding from the tread cannot be used on any public road after the first day of May to the first day of October," said Col. Allan H. Weeks, chief of the Maine State police.

The Maine Department of Transportation may extend the lawful use of studded tires, with such notice originating from Transportation officials.

The state police chief said the law does not prohibit the use of tire chains when required for safety because of snow, ice or other conditions tending to cause a vehicle to slide or skid.

BEGINNING MAY 1st

leading into the dump later this month and begin hauling the trash around the first of May.

The selectmen opted for a one-year contract with Norridgewock, still hoping that Auburn could eventually accommodate the town's trash. The Auburn city manager promised the selectmen that should capacity become available, he will hold it for the town for up to a year—until the contract with Norridgewock expires.

The cost of trucking trash to Norridgewock is higher than trucking it to nearby Auburn—by $7 a ton, according to the low bids given the town. Likewise, the tipping fee in Norridgewock is higher, though Selectmen Hugo Heikkinen and Phil Hyam, who visited the landfill last week, were of the opinion that the Auburn rates will likely go up dramatically.

In any case, the town budget has ample money to pay for the Norridgewock solution. Special town meeting authorized $25,000 to set up a transfer station, and annual town meeting authorized another $25,000 to operate the dump.

Selectman Hyam pointed out that the town will be able to save $100 a week with the new system because the dump will not have to be graded weekly. Also, there may be less trash produced, as Ledgeview may get a dumpster to handle its own trash, instead of bringing it to the town's dumpsters.

The selectmen's action on the dump comes a week after a surprise inspection of the dump by the Department of Environmental Protection. DEP Inspector Nancy Norman wrote the board last week, complaining that the dump was draining into a creek, that there was no barrier around the tire dump and that there was burning of materials other than ordinary trash.

The selectmen decided to meet with her on her concerns, but noted that their own plans were developed without any consultation or interference from DEP.

The selectmen announced that Leonard Pierson will replace Earle Billings Jr. as dump attendant this week, and Mr. Pierson's hours will be increased to 22, from 20.

In other matters, Bill Gibson, of Stearns Hill Road, came in to inform the board that he is about to begin building his new barn.

The board appointed Robert Kirchner and Don Pray to the Appeals Board and David Belskis and David Walton to the Planning Board. Two more alternates are still needed for the Planning Board.

AMBULANCE GARAGE BIDS

The discrepancy between expectations and bids will be put back in the lap of the Facilities Committee, which will discuss the matter tomorrow (Thursday) at 4:30 p.m. in the town office.

After that, Mr. Lynch expects to get the low bidder and the architect together to see if the design or specifications can be changed to bring the bid in nearer the mid-50s. "The first thing is to get the architect and the low bidder talking to each other," he said.

The B.E.A.R.S., who will be using the building as their headquarters, were concerned, when they heard of the bids, that they were going to be out in the cold again. They are supposed to be out of the school bus garage by Oct. 1.

Some members of the organization complained that all they wanted was a simple building, but town officials had gotten the architect to design a building that could serve other purposes, thus jacking up the cost.

Builder David Luxton told the Board of Selectmen Monday night that the building was overdesigned for its intended use and that money could be saved by changing the roof, siding, and heating specifications.

Chairman Arlan Jodrey told the audience at Monday night's meeting, "We're terribly disappointed the bids came in so high."

Selectman Pat Doon tended to blame the architect rather than the bidders. "There must be something wrong if he estimated it would cost $56,000 and the low bid is $76,000," she said.

TRANSFER STATION

"Senator Twitchell was a great help and expedited matters," confirmed Selectman Bean. State Representative Joseph Walker was also on hand at the hearing but did not speak. Senator Twitchell spoke for the towns.

Speaking against granting the permit was Robert Davis, a New Jersey resident who owns a camp near the transfer station. His main concern was that it was not a suitable site for a dump operation, and he offered $5,000 to help move it somewhere else.

The board, however, accepted the towns' argument that the site was practical and could be screened to keep it from view of summer tourists.

Specifically, the board ordered, and the towns agreed, that an eight-foot-high chain link fence will be erected between the transfer station and a camp ground road to the west; evergreens will be planted to screen the dump from sight; there will be no burial of waste on the site; there will be no burning of material at the site; the site will be open only with an attendant on duty; white goods (refrigerators, stoves, etc.) will be stored at the site no longer than six months; the old dump will be covered over with a two-foot cover of fine soil and then grassed over. "We don't want rainfall to percolate into the dump site," explained the DEP's Lewis.

No time frame was set for the improvements, but Mr. Lewis said, "I would expect to see them start on it right away."

Selectman Bean confirmed that the towns are already making preparations

SKIWAY FINALIZES

South Ridge. The condo additions will give the skiway 250 ski-in, ski-out condos, more than any other resort in New England, Mr. Otten claimed.

The Barker Mountain lodge will be renovated, and Crisposts will move from South Ridge to the upper lodge. Additionally, a 3,600 square foot maintenance building will be constructed, and improvements will be made to parking lots and landscaping.

Financing of the expansion will be from earnings, as well as from loans provided by Casco Northern Bank. The by getting the chain link fencing and by looking around for suitable soil, which must be 35 percent fine.

"We feel we have enough money [for the project] unless we have to haul the clay from Vladivostok," said Mr. Bean.

The towns had originally set aside $23,000 for developing the transfer station. They have spent only $8,600 so far, according to Selectman Davis. They also have another $25,000 set aside to operate the transfer station, and Woodstock has earmarked $25,000 for closing its old dump.

Additionally, the towns must find a new stump dump. Selectman Bean said they are looking very hard at a site in Greenwood City.

The two boards met last Thursday night to begin implementing the conditions attached to the permit. (See separate story.) As Selectman Redman said, "We'll do things just the way they (DEP) want it done."

Bethel Savings Bank will provide mortgage money for the condo units.

The expansion of trails and lifts will make Sunday River the fourth-largest ski area in the Maine/New Hampshire region, propelling it past Wildcat. Only Loon and Waterville Valley, in New Hampshire, and Sugarloaf, in Maine, will be larger.

Mr. Otten credited a dedicated and friendly staff for Sunday River's success in having its best season ever. The number of skiers visiting the skiway this winter increased by 68 percent over last year, and the guaranteed-learn-to-ski program attracted 2,400 beginners.

In addition to the staff, which reached a peak of 170 people during the winter, Mr. Otten said attention to providing snow and grooming it well had a lot to do with attracting skiers. Keeping lifelines short also paid dividends, he said. And the new chairs being built will keep lifelines short even if 500 to 1,000 more skiers visit in one day. (The highest one-day total so far has been 3,000.)

In assessing the future, Mr. Otten said there was a real niche for a place like Sunday River. "Sunday River is not a high-class ski area, and we're proud of that. We're a family ski area," he said.

CPS fifth-graders Brian Davis and Victor Hart were winners in the Bangor Daily News art contest. Their paintings were among 500 selected from 3,000 submitted. Victor's was of a lighthouse scene, while Brian's was a countryside scene.

Woodlot owners urged to mark boundaries

"If you plan to harvest timber from your woodlot, mark your boundaries before the logger starts his chainsaw," advises Vladimir "Kim" Kolman, supervisor of forest management and utilization for the Department of Conservation's Maine Forest Service.

Kolman says recent calls to his office complaining about "timber trespass"—cutting another person's trees—indicate that many people are unaware of Maine's law on the subject. "Woodlot owners are responsible for marking their boundaries before harvesting 10 or more acres of timber. If you hire a logger to do the cutting and the logger strays over the line and cuts your neighbor's trees because you failed to clearly mark your boundary, you are liable for damages in a civil lawsuit. This is exactly what has happened recently in several cases, and people are being sued for damages," Mr. Kolman said.

"When a logging job is going on, there is little time to have property lines run. It should be done well ahead of any cutting. Plan ahead and avoid problems," he urged.

WALKING WITH JESUS CHRIST

Isaiah 52:1-2—"Awake, awake, put on thy strength, O Zion—free yourself from the chains of thy neck!"

The current state of the Church Jesus Christ founded shows a growing dissatisfaction on the part of some people wanting to face up to reality—the assurance of knowing—in person—the living Lord Jesus Christ.

The typical Christian church is being spoken of to Christ in Revelation 3:2-3—"Wake up! strengthen what remains and about to die, for I have not found your deeds complete in the sight of my God. Remember, therefore, what you have received and heard; obey it, and repent—You have a few who have not soiled their clothes. I will acknowledge their names before my Father and his angels. He who has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to his Churches."

There is today a great gulf between our Christianity and the Church of the New Testament. What is it that is missing? Are the shepherds of the church eternally conscious? What preacher has the Gospel of Jesus Christ boiling in his veins—weeping for lost souls? Where are the fire and brimstone preachers of yesterday—and the spirit filled messengers of God that brought tears of repentance and fallen man to his knees?

It is written:—The fallen man cannot worship God because—God is a Spirit and they that worship Him must worship Him in spirit and in truth" John 4:24. —"for without me you can do nothing." John 15:5. Jesus speaks of the Holy Spirit that would come down to man: John 14:15-17—"If ye love me, and keep my commandments. And I will pray the Father, and He shall give you another Comforter (Holy Spirit), that he may abide with you forever—even the Spirit of truth, whom the world cannot receive—" Acts 1:8—"But ye shall receive power, after the Holy Spirit is come upon you—" And, Acts 2—"the day of Pentecost was fully come—and there appeared unto them cloven tongues of fire, and it sat upon each (about 120) of them, and they were filled with the Holy Spirit." It was asked, vs. 38—by a multitude of people—"What shall we do?" Peter said:—"Repent—and be baptized—in the name of Jesus Christ—and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit."

As read Luke 15:45—"Then opened he (Jesus) their understanding, that they might understand the scriptures."
Repentance—asking God's forgiveness of our sins—and, Romans 10:13 "For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved."
And for the Christian—it's time to make footprints in the sand!

GAUDREAU'S REPAIRS 824-2807

Notes from the Woodstock Historical Society

Here is a poem that summarizes how much we really do get from history: The Informing Spirit

There is no great and no small
To the soul that maketh all.
And where it cometh, all things are,
I am the owner everywhere.
Of the seven stars and the solar year
Of Caesar's hand, and Plato's brain,
Of Lord Christ's heart, and Shakespeare's brain.

—Ralph Waldo Emerson

We all participate in the great accomplishments of those who have gone before vicariously through history. Let us profit as much as we can from these lessons.

The Society mourns the passing of President Hazel Brooks. She was a devoted and dedicated member and officer of our organization who gave unstintingly and without expecting praise or recognition in return. Her sound counsel and example will be deeply missed.

Because of this loss the last meeting of the Society was cancelled. The subject of the next meeting will be announced later.

Telstar's juniors/seniors explore careers April 8-12

The week of April 8 to April 12 was Career Exploration Week for the juniors and seniors at Telstar Regional High School. Career Week is a week in which students may explore their interests in occupations. By working at the job of their choice, these students discover whether their chosen careers suit them or not.

Students are required to attend their places of business at least three days of Career Week. On Friday of the week, a project in the form of a photographic album, written report, or journal is due from every student. This project, accompanied by a "student evaluation" made up by an on-the-site supervisor, is to be presented to the school supervisor of the student. At Telstar this year Richard McCann, Mrs. Venessa Arsenault, Mrs. Thelma Domkowski, and Miss Ann Holt served as the school supervisors.

The reactions of the students are positive. Students have fun by exploring their chosen professions and a week off from school is always enjoyed. Most express regret at leaving their respective businesses after only a week. Some places where students from Telstar worked are Charlie's Place, Prim's Rexall Pharmacy, and the Ethel Bisbee School. Some worked in areas outside the district such as the James River Company, the Norway Animal Hospital, and Stephens Memorial Hospital. Many other companies and people were involved in Career Week, also. Thanks should go to Daniel Hart, Telstar Guidance counselor, the teachers who acted as supervisors, and the businesses and people involved in making the 1985 Career Exploration Week at Telstar a success.

FRIENDLY SENIOR CITIZENS

The Friendly Senior Citizens met on April 3 with 38 members and guests present.

President Gene Maillet opened the meeting with a moment of silence for the late Edith Miller, followed by the Lord's Prayer and Salute to the Flag. The president welcomed new members, John and Mildred Gliden, and Frances Adams.

Priscilla Churchill, WAAA, spoke on the closing of the Norway office. Reported on the sick list was Eva Barker. Lawrence and Lillian Herrick are celebrating their 38th wedding anniversary. Birthday celebrants in April are Gladys Plummer, Mary Fillebrown, and Velma Ellingwood. The Easter Parade judges, Violet Doughty, Polly Blodgett, and Don Miller awarded prizes to Pam DeTour, Theresa Proctor, Alice Knights, and Betty Whitman. Eva Tripp supplied the birthday cake, and will make the Maybasket. Pam DeTour and Lillian Herrick read poems.

The next meeting will be at the church on May 1. Entertainment at this time is tentative. The June 5 meeting will be at the Country Way Restaurant at 12 noon. Reservations are necessary for the dinner (meeting after the dinner).

On June 28 at 11 a.m. the Songo boat ride will take place. Price is $4 per person—through the Locks. First come—first served, up to 200 only. A $50 gift certificate will also be awarded on June 28. Please contact Gene Maillet for reservations, etc., at 824-2367, or RFD 1, Box 2165, North Waterford, Maine 04267. Stoneham members will be on the committee in May.

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

All students planning to enter the Dr. Moses Mason Award Contest are reminded that all essays should be in the hands of the principal/headmaster of the respective high school by May 1. All essays should be at least 500 but not more than 3,000 words based on primary sources discussing a local subject (confined to Oxford County). They will be judged by an impartial committee appointed by the president of the Bethel Historical Society whose decision will be final. The award consists of a certificate of commendation and a $100 savings bond. All inquiries should be directed to the office of the Bethel Historical Society at 824-2908.

The 12th film in the Adams Chronicles series will be held on Wednesday evening, April 17 (tonight), in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House. Sponsored by the society with the support of the Maine Humanities Council and the National Endowment for the Humanities the series is open to anyone interested and there is no admission charge. In this film the personal life and careers of Henry and Charles Adams II come to light during the period of Reconstruction. The controversies surrounding the railroad magnates and the radical labor movement are highlighted. This turns Henry and Charles Francis Adams II to the business of reform. In addition, the drama touches Henry's success as a writer of satire, his desire to organize a free trade party and the personal tragedy of his wife's suicide.

The last film in the series (the 13th) focuses on Charles Francis Adams II and will be shown on April 24. Another donation has been received this week for the endowment in memory of Ruth Carver Ames. This one is from Dana and Barbara Douglass of Bethel. Much appreciation is expressed for their thoughtfulness in remembering Ruth in this way.

Tri-Town Rescue

Tri-Town is in the middle of the every-member canvass through the four towns. Please consider the ambulance service seriously when the member comes to your home with the 1985 newsletter asking for a donation. The questionnaire list a variety of ways to support the service. Take a few minutes to fill it out, the smallest amount of help is appreciated.

Darlene Holcomb, Stephens Memorial Hospital emergency room head nurse, is coming to the training meeting Wednesday, April 24, at Ledgewood's auditorium at 7 p.m. She will be discussing runs the service has had and give out the prognosis of those patients as a follow-up to their condition.

Safety Tip of the Week—This week the "tip" focuses on signs and symptoms of a heart attack. Any or all of the following symptoms may be present. Listen to your body, but know the signs and call the ambulance to get to the hospital. It may save your life to go by ambulance instead of private car.

• Persistent chest pains which may radiate to one or both shoulders or arms neck or jaw.

• Gaspings and shortness of breath.

• Pale colored skin or bluish discoloration of lips, skin or fingernail beds.

• Swelling of the ankles.

• Extreme sweating, soaking through the bed clothes or shirt.

One of the most important things, but also most difficult, is to remain calm, breathing slowly and deeply until help arrives. Do not try to move or exert yourself in any way as the heart muscle is already under a great deal of strain.

Greenwood/Woodstock dump committee meets

The Greenwood/Woodstock Solid Waste Committee met last Thursday evening to consider ramifications of the BEP decision to permit the joint transfer station to operate.

High on the list of priorities is to keep out of the transfer station those items the DEP wants kept out. These include: no tires after May 15; no cardboard, except in the containers; no heavy material such as wood, rocks, etc., in the containers.

The two dump attendants were present at the meeting, and the selectmen made it clear to them that the rules must be enforced. Signs will be put up at the site stating, "No dump picking allowed" and "No discharge of firearms."

The board also considered the request by Greenwood businessmen for additional dump hours so that they do not have to store their trash, some of which includes things such as lobster shells, which could be a health hazard if stored at a campground.

The board was dubious about the need for extension of hours, but decided to allow the businessmen to state their case at the next meeting, which will be held soon.

French is spoken here—also German, Latin, etc.

At Telstar Regional High School, four languages are taught: French, Spanish, German, and Latin. In the "college preparatory" levels a student must take at least two years of one of these languages. This may seem a bit much but most colleges worth their salt demand at least three years of one language for admittance.

Many students do not take a foreign language because they are convinced that they are not "brainy" enough to succeed at it. This is not true. Any dialect one learns requires a great deal of genius but one does not need to be a genius. Those who do take a language, on the average, begin to score better in their other classes than those who do not. This mainly because of the mental gymnastics the mind undergoes in learning a language. Dedication and a willingness to learn are really the only requirements for studying a language, or anything else for that matter.

In Europe and Asia much emphasis is placed on foreign languages. A student in Europe usually learns his first foreign language in the third grade, then another in the fifth, and so on. By the time the student has reached the age of 16 he can have up to five languages, including his own, under his belt. This is done without any sacrifice of other important subjects such as history, math, or science. In the United States, however, it is rare to find a person who can fluently speak a language other than their own. The reason for this can be found in our educational system.

The English language is the most spoken tongue in the world. Of the 4.5 billion people of the world, nearly 750 million are at least familiar with English. The English language is also one of the hardest in the world to learn. Very few people born in countries where the common language is to English realize how fortunate one is to grow up with the language. Anyone who has ever taken an English grammar course can certainly testify to the complexities of it. These complexities are due to the many irregularities within the language.

B.E.A.R.S.

Bethel Emergency Ambulance and Rescue Service

The regular monthly meeting of the B.E.A.R.S. will be held on Sunday night, April 21, at 7 o'clock in the bus garage.

Arlene Greenleaf will attend the chief of services meeting Wednesday night, April 17, at Rumford.

SAFETY TIP: Soon people will be out cleaning up and trimming the bushes and cutting trees. This means using sharp instruments. You should be careful when using these. If you are running a power saw be very careful that you use the saw as it should be used. A cut with a power saw can be very dangerous and bleed a lot. The cut is very jagged and involves a wider area than a knife wound.

If it is an arm or leg, direct pressure should be applied over the wound. The cleanest, lightest piece of material should be used for the dressing (sterile if possible). If it is a leg or arm, you can also elevate it to slow the flow of blood. If you have used direct pressure and elevation and the bleeding has not stopped, you should then use a pressure point, which is the brachial artery, just above the elbow on the inside of the arm, and the femoral artery, which runs over the hip bone. This controls the leg.

A tourniquet is used only as a last resort because you are sacrificing the limb for the life of the patient.

THANK YOU

To all the people who were so kind and generous to us after our recent loss. The outpouring of affection and sympathy made our tragedy more bearable.

A particular thanks to all of Vince's classmates at Telstar High School. The area that makes up the Telstar Region must be a very special place, for we have some very special kids.

Thank you,

Woodstock selectmen announce appointments

Last week the Woodstock selectmen completed their appointments to posts and boards in the town. While many of the officers were familiar, some new names appeared.

C. James Knights is again to serve as sexton and Ashley Wing as dump custodian. The constable for animal control is Robert Larrabee. Pauline Croteau will continue as general office worker, and Doreen Benson is on the recreation board. The Conservation Committee consists of Marcel Polak, Diane York, James Chandler, and SAD 44 representative Glori Bolio.

The Fire Department will also be ably supervised. Larry Whitman is again fire chief. The first assistant fire chief is William Seames, and second assistant fire chief is Thomas House. Joseph Campbell is captain, and the fire police are Kenneth Hoyt and Harry Archer.

Several other officers were appointed. Sally Sawyer is health officer, and Sam Timberlake is plumbing officer and code enforcement officer. Frank York is the director of civil emergency preparedness, and Keith Swan is his assistant.

A number of boards round out the selectmen's list. On the planning board are William Riley, Milton Mills, Joseph Stowell, and Jerry Hefley. The board of appeals consist of Dennis Corrin, Harry Strout, Leon Poland Jr., James Chandler, and Charles Lowe. The new active budget committee is composed of Emory Ryerson, William Riley, Leon Poland Jr., Sterling Mills, Leslie Thurlow, Wendall Twitchell, Jane Mills, Leroy Gray, John Geraghty, and George Hooper. Storyteller to tell tales

Richard Sparks, a Maine author, actor and storyteller, will be performing in Bethel next Wednesday, April 24, at 7 p.m. in the Telstar auditorium. The performance is sponsored by the four elementary schools of SAD 44. Admission is free.

This is Mr. Sparks' sixth year touring schools with original material. Before that, he was involved in teaching, filmmaking, stage acting and TV production.

Recently published in New York is Mr. Sparks' fourth book, "A Candy Opera." The name is taken from the shows by candlelight that the author and his sister performed for their parents. The book includes the poem, "The Battle in my Bathtub," an audience favorite. The public is invited to this fun event.

EBS/CPS winners of the Teachers and Parents Group raffle were: Cabbage Patch Doll, Doris Mills; stereo tape player, Heath Keniston. Funds raised will be used for spring field trips and a school camera.

VINCE'S SONG

You're Gone
Your Spirits in the wind
But I know that you'll be fine
And there will come a time
When we will meet again
So know
We'll never be apart
I keep you in my heart
I'll never let you go
Just wanted you to know
My very special friend.
Cause love goes on forever
And love is something that we know
When hearts have been together
They'll always be together
No matter where we go.

Notes from the Chamber of Commerce

The Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce met Tuesday, April 9, at Carmo Crafts, West Bethel. There was a review of the Mollycoddett Day schedule of events as set by the Lions Club. Terry Perry will begin to publicize the events through the varied chamber outlets. The theme of Mollycoddett Day this year is to be "Modes of Transportation." The chamber voted to assist in bringing in events such as square-dancing or a musical review to fill any gaps if there is a "lull" in the day's events.

A donation of old surveyors' maps has been made to the railroad museum. The next meeting of the railroad museum will be held Wednesday, April 24 at 7 p.m. at R.F.D. #1.

It was suggested that the next printing of envelopes and stationery include a listing of the towns which the chamber serves.

Maxine Lovejoy marked her 75th birthday April 10 at a surprise party put together by friends and relatives at her West Bethel home.
